Description

In this workshop we will discuss the concepts, policies and systems in Lower Saxony and Scotland with regards to Inclusive Education. This panel aims to illustrate the importance of concepts, policies and systems, as proposed by UNESCO/ IBE, to develop inclusive education. By presenting and discussing two different education systems the panel will be able to analyse commonalities and differences between systems and demonstrate the importance of international partnerships when working in the field of inclusive education.

We will build on the presentations and explore common interests and possibilities for collaboration with participants and outline possibilities and challenges to develop partnerships around research and teaching in Inclusive Education.
