

Invitation

Lower Saxony – Scotland Joint Forum 21 + 22 November 2022

Hybrid Conference

The European Centre for Advanced Studies (ECAS) in partnership with Leuphana University Lüneburg and the University of Glasgow (UofG) cordially invite you to the third edition of the Lower Saxony – Scotland Joint Forum.

The Joint Forum is an annual conference designed to foster the relationship between higher education institutions within both regions, by establishing lasting links between academics, staff, and students. It provides the perfect platform to network, to expand existing partnerships and to establish new collaborations.

On the first day, you may expect a dynamic event and discourse by renowned experts and academics from Lower Saxony and Scotland evolving around the subject of “Renewable Energies and Sustainability”. It will be streamed from the University of Glasgow, where discussions will take place. While we hope to offer a general invitation to in-person conferences in the future, we have decided to have this year’s event in a hybrid format, since we are unsure how things might develop over the next few months. This means that the focused group on sustainable energy will (hopefully) meet in-person and the rest of us will meet virtually.

On the second day, we invite academics, staff and students to offer their own workshops to present and discuss joint projects, building momentum in existing co-operations and stimulating new ideas and partnerships for future collaborations. The Open Call for Workshops will be published shortly.

We look forward to seeing you at the Lower Saxony – Scotland Joint Forum 2022!
